

Step Therapy

What is Step Therapy?

For many ongoing medical conditions, there are a number of medication choices that are proven to be safe and effective. When a condition can be treated successfully by therapeutically equivalent medications, it makes sense to choose the medications that offer appropriate care at the lowest out-of-pocket cost. Generally speaking, when people spend less money on their medication, they tend to stay on their medication longer, thus increasing the likelihood they will improve their health.

Step Therapy, a prior authorization program, encourages the use of cost-effective, therapeutically appropriate medications before other, more costly prescription medication options are considered. Often, the most cost-effective therapeutic option is a generic medication. Generic medications have been certified by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to be just as safe and effective as their brand name counterparts. They can offer a considerable economic benefit to you. On average, individuals enrolled in CIGNA plans pay about $20 less out-of-pocket for generic medications, as compared to brand name medications.

How does Step Therapy work?

Step Therapy requires that certain prerequisite medications, typically generics and low-cost brands, are used before other more costly medications are covered. When you fill a prescription for a Step Therapy medication, you and your physician will receive a letter explaining what needs to be done before you go to fill the medication again. This might include trying a lower cost alternative or seeking authorization from CIGNA for continued coverage of the original medication. (At any time, your physician can request authorization to continue coverage for a Step Therapy medication for medical reasons.)
