

Content Types

Unlike coding straight HTML, the Web CMS uses pre-defined and pre-formatted content types that you add your content to.

While this does mean there is less initial flexibility for designing the look and feel of a particular page or sub-site (see Sub-Site Homepage Layout), it allows the college to present a unified and consistent appearance to our visitors, regardless of where they are within the site.

Pre-Created Pages (Sub-Site Navigation)

Several Page content types (plus Contact Us, which is a Webform) are created by default when a sub-site is created, depending on whether or not the site is for an academic group. These pages make up the list of links in a group's Sub-Site Navigation (in the left column of a group). The majority of these pages are not published when the site is created, however, and their links will not appear in the left-side navigation until the pages published.

To edit and publish these pages, you must go to the Content List, filter on the "Page" Type, click on the desired page, and edit/publish as desired.

The following table shows which items are created by default for each group type, and which of those content areas are published.

Academic Sub-Site	(published by default)		Non-Academic Sub-Site	(published by default)
Home*			Home*
Overview			Overview
Departments			Departments
Programs			---
Degrees & Certificates*			---
Course List			---
Financial Aid			---
Advising			---
Research			---
Outreach			---
Services			Services
People*			People*
Location & Hours			Location & Hours

Contact Us		Contact Us
------------	---	------------	---

* Asterisks indicate aggregate views, or pages that are collections of other types (e.g., there is no editable 'Degrees & Certificates' content type. Instead, that page automatically pulls in all the published Degrees & Certificates items, listing it alphabetically).

Admin Tools menu

The Admin Tools menu appears in the right column and provides quick links for creating new content (to edit existing content, navigate to desired item as normal or go to the Content List to search for the content).
